J. H. Anderson & Co.

It Is An Undisputed Fact!

That there are several different kinds of people in this world, ONE KIND think that they must pay a high price for anything or else it is not good.

This is the Class

We are after. High prices paid for buggies do not necessarily mean high quality.

We are selling a buggy that we know is the best vehicle made anywhere (our guarantee against any kind of breakage from any reason whatever proves that) and the prices we are making would cut very close to low quality buggies. We are not OLD TIME buggy men and do not know that we must have a GREAT BIG PROFIT on each job we sell. We would rather sell two jobs and make one profit than to make the same amount on one job.

YOU GET THIS OTHER PROFIT

And when we say so you can bet your last dollar that you are getting quality also, the highest quality that can be gotten. Give us a chance to prove it.

CARBOLIC ACID.

Horrible Suicide of Miss Maude Hamby.

Last Moments Spent in Writing a Letter to Her Lover.

Miss Maude Hamby, daughter of the late Slias Hamby, destroyed her life Sunday near Era, by taking carboic acid.

Miss Helen Wortham testified before the coroner's jury that she left Miss Hamby at 1 o'clock and went to a neighbor's. When she returned about 4 o'clock she found her dead on the floor, with an empty vial of carboic acid in an adjoining room. Also a letter addressed to Oscar Hammonds, which was as follows:

Dear Oscar:—As this my last day on earth I will write a few words to you before I am gone. I would like to see you once more, but I know I never will and I will write and tell you goodbye for the last time, and hope to meet you in heaven, where all our joys will be complete. Well, Oscar, I want you to have my ring and my album, too. Of course this one I have on belongs to you. Please don't let any other girl wear them, because I thought more of this one than I did myself. I would like to have another talk with you, but as there is no chance I will close. So good-bye this time and forever.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. The jury was composed of W. S. Henderson, T. O. Marquess, J. F. Pyle, Oscar Smiley, R. F. Hammond and J. B. Moseley. Miss Hamby was about 17 years of age.

INCREASED INDEMNITY.

P. O. Department Issues New Order Regarding Registered Mail.

The Postoffice Department has raised the limit of indemnity the Government assumes in cases of registered mail matter that has gone astray from $10 to $25. Up to about three years ago the department refused to indemnify persons who sent money by registered letter, the intention being to help the money order department. However, the department has come to the conclusion that since people persist in sending money by registered letter it would be a good scheme to boom that department, also, as it will help increase the general receipts and also to prevent the express companies from making inroads into the business. It was therefore decided to place the limit of indemnity at $25.

PUBLIC BUILDING.

Hopkinsville Promised One By Mr. Brasher.

Will Take Up the Old Bill of Dr. Clardy and Push It Again.

Hopkinsville is determined to have a public building along with other improvements, if hard work will secure it.

It will be remembered that Dr. Clardy, when in Congress, passed a bill through the House to erect a $50,000 public building in Hopkinsville. The bill failed to get through the Senate, and when Mr. Allen succeeded Dr. Clardy he was beset by the Henderson people to get them a public building and in his efforts to do so, the Hopkinsville building has for four years been lost sight of entirely.

The growth of the public business here makes the need of a suitable building a crying necessity.

Six rural delivery routes will soon be in operation and they all must transact their preparatory business in one small back room of the postoffice. The U. S. Commissioner must have his office in a private law office. There is a lack of room everywhere and a city of 8,000 people is left to worry along without a government building, while many cities of 5,000 are better provided.

Desiring to know how the candidate for Congress from our neighboring county stood on the matter, a KENTUCKIAN representative interviewed him on the subject:

MR. BRASHER DO YOU FAVOR A PUBLIC BUILDING FOR HOPKINSVILLE?

"Yes, you may say that I will do all in my power for the Hopkinsville building, first and foremost. I will not destroy the chance of success by asking for more than one building at a time and Hopkinsville shall be first on the list. Henderson is clamoring for a building and Owensboro is demanding a larger one and unless Mr. Allen gets what they want for them their local candidates will of course not be in a position to help Hopkinsville. My town can afford to wait and all my energies will be devoted to pushing the bill for Hopkinsville, the city of my native county."

This definite promise leaves no doubt how Mr. Brasher stands on this question of paramount importance to Hopkinsville.

DR. G. GOLDSTEIN,

The Optic Specialist of Louisville, Ky.,

Will Be in Hopkinsville June 9
For a Few Days at Hotel La tham, Room 14 and Hotel Parlors.

It is my specialty to fit glasses in such a manner that they relieve the strain perfectly; fitting the eye with spectacles that you can wear with ease and comfort, thus preserving the eye. In examining the eye only the latest and most improved methods and instruments are used.

Physicians especially are invited to call and investigate my method of correcting errors of refraction. Many cases of headache, neuralgia, nervousness, irritability, insomnia, vertigo, nervous prostration and the seeming stupidity of children are often due to defective vision caused by the abnormal curvature of the cornea or crystalline lens, or to an irregularity of the refracting media of the eye and are relieved by the application of the proper glasses. 90 per cent of the people over 40 years of age need glasses and 50 per cent of the 90 need them for distance.

Glasses are not always given to improve eyesight, but to relieve undue strains—in other words to assist nature. Thousands of eyes are ruined yearly. Seven persons out of ten have neither eyes alike, and one out of twenty is astigmatic, hence the necessity of testing each eye separately. Special attention is given to any inequality that may exist between the refraction of the eyes.

Optical science has made rapid advances within the last few years, the correct adaptation of spectacles has become a distinct profession. The optician who thoroughly understands his business realizes fully that in adjusting the glasses for his customers he is treating with a most delicate and precious organ where the slightest error may result seriously, while, if he does his work well he not only gives comfort and ease to his patrons, but in many instances restores the sight.

Special care should be taken in selecting the first pair of spectacles nor should it be attempted without the aid of a responsible optician. It is most important that the lenses should be accurately centered and of the best quality, and the frames so made that the wearer looks directly through the center. Glasses nicely fitted to the face become an ornament as well as a necessity.

Fitting children with spectacles is a specialty.

Parents do not neglect your children's eyes.

Difficult cases solicited.

All questions in regard to the eyes are cheerfully answered.

Where Girls Must Marry.

In Russia if a girl desires to study at either of the universities etiquette requires that she should be married. Accordingly she goes through the civil form of marriage with one of the men students, whom she may never have seen before and perhaps may never speak to again.

These marriages are perfectly legal, and if the contracting parties like each other they are united for life, but otherwise the marriage is dissolved when their university course is finished and both are free to marry again. Sonya Kovaleski, the celebrated mathematician, went through the civil marriage with a student whom she then saw for the first time, but who eventually became her husband.—Southern Cultivator.

MONT PEELE EXPLORED.

Prof. Angelo Heilprin Settles Important Points For Benefit of Science.

Fort De France, June 5.—Prof. Angelo Heilprin, who is here for the National Geographical society, came into Fort De France last night from his explorations of the crater on the summit of Mont Pelee. Prof. Heilprin is well and in good spirits. The following important points have been settled by Prof. Heilprin:

The location of the new crater has been accurately determined; it is positively known that there has not been an overflow of molten matter; there has been no subsidence of mountain, and the height of Mont Pelee is unchanged; the crater does not contain a cinder cone; there has been no cataclysm and no topographical alteration of country. The period of violent eruptions has probably ended, although the volcano may continue to be quietly active for a long time to come.

NOVEL WEDDING.

The First Couple Ever Married on the Stage in Kentucky.

A recent Paducah special says: "During the cathedral scene of 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' at the Kentucky theatre Tuesday night, Otto Inden, formerly of Keokuk, Iowa, and Miss Mattie Gainer, of this city, were married by Rev. J. T. Cunningham, of Canton, Trigg county, Ky., in presence of 500 people, the English summer stock company producing the play. Manager English was unable to secure a local preacher to perform the ceremony and had to import one. After the marriage the couple passed through the audience amid cheers and took a seat in a box. It was the first marriage ever performed on the stage in Kentucky.

Ten Days of Horrors.

Ten days of last month mark May, 1902, as a record-breaker in the chronology of disasters. They are as follows: May 1, tornado in India, killed 416; May 8, Mount Pelee eruption, killed 30,000; May 13, explosion of naphtha in Pennsylvania, 23 killed and 202 injured; May 14, loss of the British India liner with 650 passengers; May 17 six men killed in Atlanta riot; May 18, 141 people destroyed in Texas storm; May 19, 216 lives lost in Coal Creek mine explosion; May 20, six lives lost in Cincinnati storm; May 24, 124 men entombed in a mine at Fernie, British Columbia. It is to be hoped that the world has encountered the last May of that kind. —Memphis News.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

Given Near Julien Monday Night by Misses Howard and Rascoe.

Julien, Ky., June 3.—The people of this place were delightfully entertained last night at a concert given by Misses Elizabeth Rascoe and Katherine Howard, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stowe.

Misses Rascoe and Howard are very talented young ladies and are thoroughly efficient in such work. The children knew their parts perfectly, consequently the programme was beautifully rendered. Among other things, the programme consisted of four tableaux from Lytton's "Last Days of Pompeii."

Miss Howard will leave the first of next week for her home in Gallatin, Tenn., where she will spend the summer. We trust she will come back to old "Kentucky" again next fall.

Miss Rascoe will also leave in a few days to visit friends and relatives in Tennessee.

Miss Nannie Manson, of Clarksville, has been spending some time with her sister Mrs. G. B. Stowe.

Mr. J. E. Gossett has gone to Nashville on business.

Farming is progressing very nicely. Nearly all of the people are through planting tobacco. Corn is looking exceedingly well. Wheat has improved a great deal, but still it is not anything like a full crop. —"SOCIETY."

The Home of Peruna

The Hartman Sanitarium,
Columbus, Ohio.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the president of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year.

THE GREATEST OF AMERICA'S SANITARIUMS.

The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of this kind.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynecologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will prevail during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients.

All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the house several years with a chronic female derangement had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients had the following experience.

Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.:

"Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good.

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated.

"I had pains in my back and side and falling of the womb, with bearing down pains.

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, 'Health and Beauty,' and sent for it. Then I began to use Peruna. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."

MISS IDA GREEN.

Mrs. Theresa Keller, of Fremont, Wash., writes:

"Peruna not only cured me of female trouble but prevents me catching any cold, and as long as I have a bottle in the house my family needs no doctor."

—Mrs. Theresa Keller.

STRANGE TALE OF A PIN.

Baltimore Girl's Brooch Found in Steer's Stomach.

A special from Topeka, Kan., to the New York Herald tells the following remarkable story concerning a Baltimore lady and a diamond pin:

"Friday at St. Joseph, Mo., in the stomach of a steer slaughtered in the packing house was found a diamond brooch, worth $500, that was lost in a peculiar manner by Miss Margaret Carroll, of Baltimore, Md., two years ago. The steer in which the jewel was found was grown on the plains near Dodge City, Kan., and was received from there by the packing house one day last week.

"Miss Carroll happened to be detained for a few hours at Kinsley, Kan., 30 miles from Dodge City. She was traveling with a party of friends in a private car, and near the right of way at Kinsley a circus was in progress. Miss Carroll had taken a fancy to a pretty baby which was traveling with its mother in the forward sleeper, and she had it with her in the observation end of her car watching the circus pageant. A fakir came near and she bought the child a little toy balloon.

"In a few minutes the child playfully fastened the string of the balloon to the lady's diamond pin in her collar. It was a windy day, and suddenly a quick gust of wind caused the balloon to wrench the pin from its fastenings, and it was carried off, disappearing in the western sky.

"A reward was offered for the recovery of the diamond, but there was no trace of it until the other day, when the identical brooch was taken from the stomach of a steer at St. Joseph."

SCENT IN DOGS.

An English Sportsman Gives His Setter a Very Severe Test.

Dr. Romanes submitted his favorite setter bitch to a most severe test. He collected 11 men about the place and directed them to walk close behind one another in Indian file, each man taking care to place his feet in the footprints of his predecessor. In this procession Dr. Romanes took the lead, while the gamekeeper brought up the rear. After walking 200 yards he turned to the right, followed by five of the men, the remainder turning at an angle to the left, and walking as before in single file. The two parties, thus formed, then walked a considerable distance and concealed themselves. The bitch was then put upon the common track of the whole party. She followed this track with rapidity, and at first overshot the point of divergence, where the band had split into two parties; but, quickly recovering the track, she, without any hesitation, chose the footsteps to the right. Yet in this experiment the footprints of Dr. Romanes in the common track were overlaid by 11 others, and in the track to the right by five others. Moreover, though it was the gamekeeper who brought up the rear and went to the left, and as in the absence of her master's track the bitch would always follow the keeper's trail (the fact of his scent being second uppermost in the series), the animal's attention was never diverted from her master's trail; for to get to him was the object of her desire.—Gentleman's Magazine.

COCOANUT GRASS A POISON.

Chickens Said to Sicken and Die After Eating It.

"Cocoanut grass is poison," said a man who lives out near West End to a New Orleans Times-Democrat man, "and I had a good chance to study the effects of the poisonous ingredient of the grass recently. Cocoanut grass grows near the water. It is a product of the marsh. You could never find it in hilly sections of the country. It is a watery sort of plant. There is a sort of nut on the end of the blades. A dead, dry-looking cover grows around the main stem of the grass, and there is at the edges of this covering a whitish sort of powder which looks a little like cocaine. A few days ago the chickens belonging to one of my neighbors began to eat cocoanut grass. They would suck the substance of the little nut which had formed at the end of the blades. They seemed to like it. In a little while the chickens became drunk and began to stagger around the yard. They acted precisely like men who had been drinking too much. Their eyes had a wild, desperate sort of stare, their steps were uneven and they simply fell all over themselves. What was worse, they died, and the friend had lost at least 20 chickens before he knew what the matter was. Since then he has not allowed his chickens to nibble the luscious nuts which hang on the blades of cocoanut grass."

Hanna's Campaign Cry.

"Keep on letting well enough alone."

That is the cry that Hon. Mark Hanna, a United States Senator from Ohio, has invented for use in the Republican congressional campaign of 1902.

Well, let us see.

The Sugar Trust holds Republican United States Senators in the hollow of its hand. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The beef trust has sent the price of meat so high that the people are subsisting on a vegetable diet. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The grain trust has so cornered the cereal market that men have tied the wheat crop in their handkerchiefs and held it there till working women throughout the country have been compelled to pay higher prices for flour they carry home to their famished children. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The coal trust has sent the price of coal skyward and refused to advance the wages of working men who bring the product from the bowels of the earth. Strikes are on in the great coal regions of the United States. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The ice trust has put the price up on every pound of ice and knocked the weight off on every ton. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The American flag has been perverted in the Philippines into an emblem of tyranny, torture, spoliation and murder. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The Declaration of Independence has been repealed. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

The Monroe doctrine has been nullified. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

Dewey and Schley, who honored their country, have been degraded. Crowninshield and Funston, who degraded their country, have been honored. ("Keep on letting well enough alone.")

And so on—to the end of the chapter.

And yet this Republican Senator from Ohio, "hiding behind McKinley's tombstone, peeps out and cries: "Keep on letting well enough alone."

LOVE IS UNIVERSAL.

Prince and Pauper Acknowledge Its Mighty Power.

Some Royal Proposals Which Were Based Upon Mutual Respect and Admiration and Ended in Happy Marriage.

Many people are possessed of the idea that, as royal marriages have generally to be arranged as affairs of state, the prospective bridegroom has no occasion to woo his bride as the average man would do. This, however, is a totally erroneous idea, as will be found on reading the following authentic accounts, from London Tit-Bits, of how and where some royalities proposed to those who ultimately became their wives.

It was at Rosenberg, the palace of the Danish royal family, that King Edward VII. proposed to and was accepted by our gracious queen. His majesty—then, of course, prince of Wales—first saw his wife in the cathedral of a continental town, and was so impressed with her beauty that he determined to secure an introduction on learning who the princess was. The result of that introduction was that a short time afterwards the prince went over to Denmark and made a formal claim for the hand of the princess.

A charming story is that told regarding the manner in which the late Emperor Frederick of Germany, then crown prince, proposed to the princess royal (the late Empress Frederick). The two became separated from the rest of a royal party, who were taking a walk over a Scotch moor in the vicinity of Balmoral. Suddenly the crown prince spied a bit of white heather, and picking it up gave it to the young girl beside him—for the princess was barely 18 years of age at the time. She knew, however, the meaning of the simple gift, and whispered "yes" loud enough for her companion to hear. During the remainder of their lives Balmoral always had great attractions for the emperor and empress.

White Lodge, Richmond park, was the place where our present prince of Wales wooed and won the heart of Princess May. The prince went on a visit for a few weeks to his sister, the duchess of Fife, who lived at Sheen house, near the park gates. Every day his royal highness could be seen strolling down Sheen lane, leading to White Lodge, and it was in the gardens round that mansion that he put the all-important question.

In describing how the marquis of Lorne, now, of course, the duke of Argyll, proposed to Princess Louise, one cannot do better than quote the record made of the event by Queen Victoria in her "Leaves from the Journal of a Life in the Highlands." The queen wrote:

"This was an eventful day. Our dear Louise became engaged to Lord Lorne. The event took place during a walk from the Glass-It-Sheil to Loch Duich. We got home by seven. Louise, who returned some time after, told me that Lorne had spoken of his devotion to her and proposed to her, and that she had accepted him, knowing that I should approve."

It was at the same palace, i. e., Rosenberg, the seat of the Danish royal family, where our king proposed to the "daughter of the sea kings," that the present czar asked Princess Alix of Hesse in 1894 to be his wife. He had made up his mind long before that if he married it would be to whom he pleased rather than one commended to him by his counsellors for state reasons. His choice fell upon Princess Alix, and a party was arranged at Rosenberg to allow Nicholas to meet this royal lady. Accounts differ regarding the actual spot where the proposal took place. Some say the czar proposed during an evening party; others that he did so in the gardens round the palace whilst out for a walk with the princess. The latter account, however, is generally regarded as correct.

Naturalism Among Amateurs.

The little daughter of a New York family, who is in school near Washington, wrote home describing some amateur theatricals the pupils had, and the letter contained the information that "Susie Jackson played the part of a peasant woman. She was very lifelike, for she wiped her lips with the tablecloth."

Holds the Talking Record.

The most rapid talker in the house of representatives is Charles E. Littlefield, of Maine. He is a terror to the official stenographer, sometimes getting very close to the 300-words-a-minute record, established by Henry U. Johnson, of Indiana, who served several terms in congress.

The importance of sending sober men to Congress cannot be over-estimated. Five United States Senators have figured in the Washington Police Court since Christmas.

Chairman Mott Ayers has called a meeting of the First Railroad District Committee at Paducah next Thursday to consider the matter of nominating a Democratic candidate for railroad Commissioner to be voted for in 1903.

J. M. Terrell was nominated for Governor in the Democratic primaries in Georgia. Senator Clay was renominated. W. H. Fleming was the only Congressman who failed of renomination. He was defeated by T. W. Hardwick.

Duke Bowden, of Russellville, seems to be a pretty good "all round man." Besides being a lawyer, a commercial boomer and a stump speaker, he was last month licensed to preach, and this month has been commissioned captain of a military company.

A Federal Judge at Boston has decided that a man has no right to open his wife's letters, even when prompted by a well grounded suspicion that his wife is in love with another man. A husband who went upon the idea that a man and wife are one, and the man that one, was fined $50 for opening another person's mail.

J. W. Edwards, of Russellville, who sued the Louisville Post for libel, has secured a verdict of $500 and costs, the costs amounting to $1,200. The case of Tom Rhea against the Post, in which the verdict was for $4,500, is still pending in the Court of Appeals. The Post accused the election board, of which both were members, of perpetrating frauds.

The Eddyville Tale of Two Cities is strongly for Hendrick for Governor, and says:

"From all sections of the State comes encouragement for John K. Hendrick as a candidate for Governor. Quite a number of gentlemen have been mentioned in connection with the distinguished honor, but to our mind there is no man in the State more suitably qualified for the discharge of the duties of chief executive than John K. Hendrick. Western Kentucky should be solidly for him."

Impaired Digestion

May not be all that is meant by dyspepsia now, but it will be if neglected. The uneasiness after eating, its nervous headache, sourness of the stomach, and disagreeable belching may not be very bad now, but they will be if the stomach is suffered to grow weaker.

Dyspepsia is such a miserable disease that the tendency to it should be given early attention. This is completely overcome by which strengthens the whole digestive system.

The following extract from the speech of Hon. John W. Kern, permanent chairman of the Indiana Democratic convention, is commended to the consideration of all Democrats:

"When we observe that such splendid patriotic Democrats as Hill and Cockran, of New York; Olney and Quincy, of Massachusetts; Gorman, of Maryland; Harmon, of Ohio, and Watterson, of Kentucky, hesitate not to march shoulder to shoulder with that incorruptible American, William J. Bryan, and join their efforts with his for the regeneration of the republic, we look in vain for an excuse for the faltering of any man who believes in the principles of Jefferson and Tilden and Hendricks."

A London dispatch says in connection with the Martinique disaster, that letters are arriving describing the negroes of that island as holding orgies because the whites are all dead. The negroes say they have elected a negro Governor, who countenances all excesses. Many of them are said to have enriched themselves by looting.

HICKMAN FOR CONGRESS.

Press of the District Has Many Good Words for Him.

Hon. George W. Hickman announces from Frankfort his candidacy for congress from the Second district to succeed Congressman Allen. In announcing thus promptly and early his desires, he is acting fairly, frankly and honestly with the Democrats of the district and other prospective candidates.

Mr. Hickman will undoubtedly be a very strong factor in the race, however made up. Young, vigorous and able, he has had legislative experience and training that give him all the attributes of a congressional representative. He twice represented his county (McLean) in the legislature, and during the stormy times of two years ago stood true and unflinching to the cause of Democracy and the people. His reputation won in those memorable days placed him at once in the forefront when elected to the upper branch of the general assembly, now just convened at Frankfort, and he in reality becomes the legislative leader of the Democracy. That he will handle the affair of the State wisely his friends confidently believe, and returning from Frankfort with new-won laurels, he will surely command a strong following in the congressional race. —Owensboro Messenger.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the formal announcement of Hon. George W. Hickman, of McLean county, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district.

Mr. Hickman has twice represented his county in the lower house of the Kentucky General Assembly and is now serving his first term as State Senator in his, the Daviess-McLean district. During the Goebel-Taylor contest for the Governorship Mr. Hickman was Chairman of the committee that tried the contest, and recently he was made Chairman of the Democratic joint caucus that nominated the Hon. James B. McCreary for United States Senator. He is a skilled parliamentarian and a speaker and debater of ability, and if nominated will make a reputation in Congress and be an honor to the old Second district.—Hancock Clarion.

In this issue of the Sun we formally announce Hon. Geo. W. Hickman, of McLean county, candidate for the congressional nomination of the Democrats of the Second Congressional district. Mr. Hickman represented his home county in the lower branch of the Kentucky legislature for four years and is now senator from his senatorial district. He was chairman of the gubernatorial contest committee in 1900, and while a member of the House was placed on many of the most important committees.

He is a lawyer of recognized ability and has the reputation of being one of the most eloquent speakers in the district. His Democracy is of the unwavering kind and his party record excellent. He is one of those Democrats who has worked for his party both in and out of season, as it were. He is sober, industrious and exceedingly popular in his home county. In Frankfort he is equally as popular as he is at home. His ability and popularity have both been attested by making him chairman of the joint caucus of both houses.

Mr. Hickman is comparatively well known in Union but we understand he will make an active canvass of the county, in which event, his friends claim, he will add many warm admirers and enthusiastic supporters to the large number already following his banner in other parts of the district.—Morganfield Sun.

M'CAIN LAW VALID.

Several Warehouses May Have to Pay Penalties.

At Frankfort in the case of Pannell vs. the Louisville Tobacco Warehouse Company the court decided that the famous McCain tobacco law was constitutional. The recent Legislature repealed the McCain law, but the Pannell suit was instituted before the repeal, and it is likely several Louisville warehouses will have to pay penalties for violation of the old law.

How to Avoid Trouble.

Feland, of the marine corps, has duty at present at Annapolis, but runs down to Washington for his Sundays.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Whooping Cough.

My little son had an attack of whooping cough and was threatened with pneumonia; but for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy we would have had a serious time of it. It also saved him from several severe attacks of croup.—H. J. STRICKFADEN, editor World-Herald, Fair Haven, Wash. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

In many instances attacks of cholera morbus terminate fatally before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. The safe way is to keep at hand a reliable medicine for use in such cases. Bosworth, of LaFayette, Ala., says: "In June, 1900, I had a serious attack of cholera morbus and one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy gave me relief in fifteen minutes." BRASHER'S HIT.

Sebree Paper Discusses His Tilt With Stanley.

A "Warm Baby" Breaks Loose In Webster County and Goes After Stanley.

The Green River News at Sebree gives this account of the Brasher-Stanley discussion at Sebree:

"A division of time arrangement being agreed upon, Mr. Brasher was first introduced and received a hearty round of applause when arising to speak. He prefaced his speech by the statement that owing to his physical conditions, he having just arisen from a sick bed, his remarks would be necessarily brief. In the beginning of his speech Mr. Brasher referred to some strictures made upon him by Mr. Stanley during his (Brasher's) absence on a former occasion in a speech at Dixon, characterizing the assault as a 'stab in the back,' also referring to Mr. Stanley's aristocratic tendencies as evidenced by his disinclination to mingle with the people in a personal or bushwhacking canvass of the voters, contrasting it with the precepts and teaching of the fathers of the Democratic party, yet in a measure, excusing it upon the ground that Mr. Stanley's early environments had been such as were calculated to foster this spirit of exclusiveness so markedly dominant in his character and contrasting these environments with those of himself as evidenced by the history of his life, which had been one continuous struggle against disadvantages and limited opportunities, due to the straightened financial circumstances with which his early life was surrounded and closing his address with an earnest and manly appeal to the voters for the honors which the Democratic nomination to Congress would confer upon him. The speech was dignified, temperate, rational, gentlemanly, unostentatious, clean and courteous to his opponents, and on account of these characteristics, if for no other merits, its effect was evidently that of making surer the chances of its author for securing the suffrage of the intelligent discriminating men who heard it and passed judgment upon the man as he stood before them and pleaded for their support."

"Mr. Stanley, of Henderson, next occupied the rostrum, and took up his entire time in what he termed a reply to Brasher's attack upon him. His speech was the most scathing personal criticism and the bitterest denunciation, of an opponent, whether of the same or opposite political belief, ever heard by a Sebree gathering of Democratic voters. The bitterness indulged in by Mr. Stanley was wholly uncalled for, and would have been in very bad taste even though it had been justified, which was not true. It was a speech, whose coarseness and vulgarity, which were marked characteristics, would have reflected no credit upon the most uncultured, and illiterate man in the State, and its effect was a loss of votes for the gentleman. Many who came favorably impressed with the heralded ability of the speaker, were so thoroughly disgusted with the venom and lack of discretion exhibited by him as to decide that they would support some other aspirant for the position. This expression was common after the speaking was over, and is frequently heard since."

"Mr. Brasher closed the speaking in a fifteen minutes rejoinder."

Editorial Comment.

The News then comments editorially on the press report sent out, as follows:

"In justice to Mr. Brasher, and that the News readers may not be misled without an effort to set them right, we desire to correct the false impression which was sought to be made by the article printed above, as well as to let them into the secret of how this 'Sebree special' reached the Gleaner office. Limited space forbids anything but a very brief notice. So far as Mr. Stanley's speech being to a 'Queen's Taste' is concerned, we are of the opinion that would depend altogether upon the character of taste possessed by the queen and upon the condition of her stomach, but as we know very little about queens anyway we will not deny the assertion; but we do know there were a number of genteel farmers present, and the speech was not to their taste by any means. They characterized the speech as vulgar, coarse and brutal, evidencing neither political acumen nor good business discretion on the part of its author. The statement that men wearing Brasher badges took them off and threw them away, is a reproduction of an old newspaper chestnut, long since laid aside by the fraternity. There were no Brasher badges except these worn, by probably a dozen personal friends, who accompanied him from Madisonville. "It is further a well known fact there were no Brasher men here until after the speaking last Saturday, and instead of Stanley's speech making him 100 votes, it is the consensus of opinion that it lost him that number, many of which went to Brasher."

"There are several more false statements contained in this 'Sebree special,' but we have not space to mention them. It started out with a false statement in being headed 'Sebree special,' inasmuch as it was telephoned by Mr. Geo. Beard, from Dixon. How did Mr. Beard know anything about this speech? Neither himself nor any other representative of the Dixon press was present when it was made and we can think of no way in which Mr. Beard could have gotten the particulars so minutely unless the information was given him by some one who heard it or unless he possesses the rare gift of mind reading and knew what Mr. Stanley was saying about 'John.'"

Mr. Stanley drove to Dixon that night after the speaking here. Did Mr. Stanley dictate the 'Sebree Special' to Bro. Beard while that gentleman called it off over the phone?

"We are reliably informed that the report of the speaking sent in from Sebree by the authorized representative of the Gleaner here, which was just to all the candidates very similar to that contained in the News, was suppressed in the office and the 'Sebree special' sent in by Beard & Co., from Dixon, was published."

"The News wants to see fair play. These men are all Democrats and should stand on equal footing."—Green River News.

BRASHER A WINNER.

Stanley's Attack Rouses the Madisonville Hustler.

"From reports which come to us from the various newspapers of the district where the race for Congress has opened and from information received generally from reliable sources it seems clear that the Hopkins county man, John B. Brasher, is in the lead. He has steadily gained in strength from the moment he entered the race and the people generally have come to look upon him as a winner. He has shown his capacity as a bushwhacker and has more than held his own with the other candidates on the stump. The Democracy of Hopkins county will be found as one man for him on the 2nd day of August and will rally from every precinct in the county, and they heartily commend him to the Democracy of the district as being in every way a suitable man to represent them in Congress. He is sober, intelligent, patriotic, has unbounded industry, and will make a splendid working member of Congress. He is going to be nominated and elected."

"Elsewhere in this issue we present a sample of the oratory with which candidate Stanley is entertaining the public at the speakings between the candidates for Congress in this district. His reference to Brasher as the 'pumpkin-head candidate' is extremely classical and dignified and shows of course his high fitness to represent a great people in congress, but if Brasher is to be dubbed the 'pumpkin-head' candidate, Mr. Stanley will have to apply the appellation to those who vote for Brasher, and we wish to suggest to the gentlemen that he will awake on the morning of the 3rd of August and find the biggest and finest crop of 'pumpkin-head' voters that he ever saw in all his born days."—Hustler.

Noted Correspondent and Traveler.

Few newspapers in the United States are able to command the service of as brilliant a corps of correspondents as that of THE CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD. Its choice of a Washington correspondent is indicative of THE RECORD-HERALD policy of obtaining the best there is to be had. Walter Wellman, the well-known authority of political subjects and one of the ablest writers of the day, acts in that capacity.

Mr. Wellman was born in Mentor, Ohio, Nov. 3, 1858. At the age of 14 he began his newspaper experience, establishing at that age a weekly paper in the little town of Sutton, Neb. In 1878 he returned to Ohio, and a year later established the Cincinnati Evening Post. In 1884 he became the Washington correspondent of The Chicago Herald, and in 1892 he visited Central America and the West Indies and located the landing place of Columbus on Watling's (San Salvador) Island, and marked the spot with a huge stone monument. Mr. Wellman's dashes to the north pole are well known. In 1894 he made the first of his two arctic voyages of exploration, reaching the latitude of 81 degrees northeast of Spitzbergen. In 1898 he returned to the North, penetrated to Franz Joseph Land, returning again to this country in 1899. On each trip he met with wonderful success in the discovery of new islands and brought back with him scientific data and information of great value to the American Geographical Society.

Mr. Wellman has been a voluminous writer for scientific magazines and popular periodicals. On returning from his arctic trips he renewed his connection with THE RECORD HERALD and is now the Washington correspondent of that paper. His incisive discussion of contemporary affairs has given him a high place in the regard of statesmen and scientists of the day.

BAD DIGESTION

Imperfect digestion is more serious and far-reaching in its effect than is generally understood. This state of health is like an open gateway to disease because germs that may be in the air we breathe at once seize such an opportunity to attack the vital organs. They slowly undermine the strength and energy, and a collapse comes—usually at a time when a strong healthy body is most needed.

PRICKLY ASH BITTERS

Is a fine regulating tonic which filters through the body, casting out injurious matter, stimulating the digestion and nourishing and strengthening every weakened part. It also purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite and creates energy. In this way it restores the system to perfect order.

For irregular bowel movements, chronic constipation, flatulence, belching, foal breath, and other troubles due to indigestion or obstruction in the bowels, Prickly Ash Bitters is a speedy cure.

It is probable that in no county in the district will the Democratic voters so unanimously support a candidate in the congressional primary as will the Democrats of Daviess county support Judge E. P. In one or two precincts along Green river there are some Henderson county men who have not transferred their full allegiance to Daviess county, and will vote for Stanley, of Henderson, but there are not six of these in all, so that Judge Taylor's vote will be practically unanimous. DR. DAVID J. HILL.

May Succeed Dr. White as Ambassador to Germany.

As Assistant Secretary of State He Has Won the Admiration of His Colleagues and of the Diplomatic World.

The expected resignation of Dr. A. D. White from the ambassadorship to Germany opens the way for the advancement of another distinguished university president, who has given some of the best years of his life to the service of the government, Dr. David Jayne Hill, the present assistant secretary of state. Dr. Hill's name has been so prominently mentioned in connection with the German ambassadorship in the event of Ambassador White's resignation that it is fair to conclude that he may be chosen.

Dr. Hill will complete his fifty-second year on June 10, being now in the full vigor of his manhood. Few men have ever attained such eminence in letters and diplomacy at his age. He was a university president at 29 and built up Rochester university in a wonderful way. He early applied himself to authorship, writing first a life of Gen. Grant, following it with college text books on rhetoric, logic, psychology, economics, sociology and philosophy. He is a brilliant public speaker and lecturer and has delivered courses on European diplomacy and treaties in the Columbian school of comparative jurisprudence and diplomacy at Washington. He resigned the presidency of Rochester university in 1896 to perfect his studies in international law and the public law of Europe, but within two years President McKinley called him to the state department as assistant secretary. In the discharge of his duties there he has had general charge of the great international commissions, such as the commission to the peace conference at The Hague, the first

He May Succeed Dr. White as Ambassador to Germany.

Philippine commission and the recent Pan-American congress in Mexico, preparing the instructions to delegates and overseeing the negotiations. In fact, Dr. Hill is an expert in treaty making, and in the event of his appointment as ambassador to Germany he will be able to do most excellent service in the probable revision of our treaties with Germany. This government has no general treaty with the German empire, but existing treaties are with the separate states and need revision. He has an unusual knowledge of political economy and finance, and has made use of his opportunities to render important service in securing to Americans trade advantages by diplomatic negotiation. Dr. Hill is an earnest and thorough man, and has a feeling of professional pride in securing results serviceable to his country. He came recently into unusual prominence as the representative of the government in the entertainment of Prince Henry upon his visit to the United States. He has a delightful social side, fond of a good story and an excellent story teller himself, and it is well to mention that the social qualities have much to do with the success of a diplomat.

In his family relations Dr. Hill is particularly fortunate, having an accomplished wife, who was Miss Juliet L. Packer, of Williamsport, Pa., a lady of German descent, who speaks German, French, and Spanish with the ease of English. Her Tuesday afternoon "drawing-rooms" at their Washington home have been conspicuous events of social life at the capital. These occasions have drawn to Dr. Hill's home once a week a host of diplomats and high officials as well as the most famous men and women in literary, scientific and artistic circles.

How Pencils Are Made.
Pencils are very skillfully constructed. When the column of graphite has been prepared for use in the pencil it is laid in a slit cut for it, covered with another piece of wood, which is glued on; then, by means of ingenious machinery the wooden covers are reduced to the proper size for pencils, and painted or varnished and set aside to dry.

St. Vitus's

Dance, or chorea, is one of the most pitiable afflictions humanity is called on to endure. That this disease can be cured, however, is proven by the fact that it has been cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The tranquilizing effect upon the nerves exercised by this remarkable medicine is witnessed by thousands who have found healing and strength in its use. It not only cures womanly diseases, but it promotes the health of the whole body. It is a nerve-soothing, strength-giving, sleep-inducing medicine. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics. It cannot disagree with the weakest or most delicate constitution.

"When our daughter Lizzie had St. Vitus's dance, I happened to get one of your small books and read it," writes Henry L. Miller, Esq., of 106 North 7th St., Burlington, Iowa. "Among other things I found that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cured patients suffering from that trouble, so I went out and got a bottle. She was very bad at that time and could hardly talk. When I read about your medicine in that small book, I said to myself, with the help of God and that medicine we can cure our daughter. We did so. Four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' cured her, and I did not have to take her to the doctor any more. She is well, thank God and the 'Favorite Prescription' for it."

"TON Y BOTEL"

"The Tune of the Bottle," which has Taken Wales by Storm.

A curious, slurring dance—half chant, half hymn tune—has taken musical Wales by storm. It is popularly known as "Ton y Botel," which in plain English means "The Tune of the Bottle," for it is generally believed to have been picked up on the Welsh coast, sealed up in a bottle cast ashore by the waves.

Mr. W. Gwenlyn Evans of Carnarvon, is the owner of the copyright, while the Welsh words have been rendered into English by Rev. J. W. Wynn Jones, M. A., vicar of the Carnarvon.

"I first heard it in Manchester in October," says Mr. Evans. "There were hundreds of Welshmen there, and they struck up the quaint tune. I was very much struck at the time. Then I came home and heard people humming the tune, little boys in the street whistling it, and I thought it would take, so I made a search for the author. After some delay I discovered that the tune had been composed as part of an anthem by Mr. J. T. Williams, Rhos, Pontedaw, in the Swansea valley. The anthem was known as 'Golden y Glym' ('Light of the Valley'). I secured and copyrighted it."

The curious name was given to it at first in fun by a young man who rendered it at a private entertainment before it became known. When asked for the history of the tune, he laughingly told his friends that it had been picked up by a yokel on the coast of Llyn, in a sealed bottle washed ashore. The touch of romance undoubtedly gave an impetus to the craze, for at that time Mr. Gwenlyn Evans had not discovered the composer, and the name clung to the tune even after the publisher had rechristened it "Ebenezer."

The progress of "Ton y Botel," for it will ever remain to be known as such, has been phenomenal. It marched from one Welsh village to another long before printed copies of it were to be obtained. It was learned by ear. One day a congregation in one town sang it; next day it would be heard more inland; and the next in the very wilds of the snow-covered mountain fastnesses. Then came the rush for printed copies, especially in North Wales, and though one-half the population had not seen the music almost every child could sing the tune correctly, and parties could render the four parts.

Arrangements are now being made for its production at half a dozen musical festivals. It is not improbable that before long it will be hawked around the London streets, and its soul-stirring strains rendered on barrel organs. —London Mail.

German Dolls.

It takes 80 men to make a German doll. Each man makes a small portion of the doll, but it is the same bit all the time, and 1,000 dozen dolls can be made in a day in some of the big factories. After the men finish the body portion of the doll the women's work begins. They paint, dress the dolls and pack them for the market.

Suggestion for Patriots.

A BASKET LIBRARY.

Novel Plan of Circulating Books Tried at Northampton, Mass.

A free public library in a basket is something new in the library line, says the New York Sun, but it has been tried in two or three places and has worked successfully. The town of Northampton, Mass., has the distinction of circulating more books through its public library than almost any similar institution in the United States, in proportion to population, and the basket library has proved one of several elements in achieving this record.

Two young women connected with the library, enthusiasts in their work, under the direction of the librarian, went out into the suburbs with a basket of books one fine day in the summer, and plumped themselves down by the wayside, near a large mill. When the workmen came out and passed by on their way to their homes, the young women explained to them that they could take any of the books along with them if they signed the necessary papers, which would make them liable in case the books were damaged or destroyed.

The workmen became interested and soon the young women found they had plenty of business on their hands. They made the trip two or three times a week, and little by little the workmen got to look for them.

On the days appointed a library janitor would hustle the book basket on the front platform of a trolley car, and near the end of the line the motorman would stop and put it off for them. Right where they stopped the young women opened shop.

Each day they would receive many books returned by the workmen and would lend them others. Usually they brought out with them the books the men had signified a wish to read. Sooner or later a small branch library will probably take the place of the basket, which, by the way, before the close of the summer, had grown into a large and capacious clothes basket.

A prominent librarian in one of the cities near New York in speaking of the basket library of Northampton the other day said:

"The fact of it is the library has got to make use of all such plans as this if it is to hold its own in the tremendous competition it now has to face in the magazines and the Sunday newspapers. It has got to see to it that the people are not permitted to forget that it is in the field and doing business every week day."

"It must be ever alert to convince the people that it has things they want and it must make it as easy as possible for them to get those things. It cannot afford to be too dignified and sit in its silent halls in solitary state waiting for the people to come to it, as was once the custom. All that is passed. The library must go to the people."

A HAPPY TIME IN STORE.

The Poor Man Would Certainly Be Disillusioned Afterward.

"So you are really engaged, dear?" said Elsie, gushingly, to her particular friend, Madge.

"Yes, dear," was the blushing reply. "I am really engaged at last."

"And to that stern, stolid-looking fellow, Alec Wilson?"

"Yes, that is the 'happy man,'" laughed Madge.

"Isn't he inclined to be masterful?" suggested Elsie.

"Oh, yes, dear," replied her friend, quickly; "he often says that after we are married he means to manage the house, look after my personal expenditure as well as his own, and, in fact, have his own way in everything."

"Good gracious! And you seriously tell me you mean to marry a man like that?" cried Elsie, in astonishment.

"Oh, yes, dear; I wouldn't give up the idea on any account. You see, it will be such fun to show him how absurd such ideas are—won't it?" and the speaker smiled a wicked smile, which the happy Alec ought to have seen, but luckily didn't.—London Tit-Bits.

Saying Disagreeable Things.

Do you ever say disagreeable things to people? Ever occur to you that if you can't help others you can at least let them alone? Every time you say a disagreeable thing you not only make a man mad, but you cause him to invent plans to "get even." You might avoid both of these consequences by keeping your mouth shut.—Atchison Globe.

The One Thing Lacking.

Some people have intelligence and industry, and still fail. What is the trouble? Lack of order. Thousands of people are so careless that it amounts to criminal abuse of their own interests.—Atchison Globe.

NON-PROGRESSIVE TEACHERS

"Expects to Spend Summer Selling Lightning Rods."

(By Supt. L. McCARTNEY, Superintendent of Graded Schools, Hopkinsville, Ky.)

The non-progressive teacher has not yet heard of the next meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association. In fact it is doubtful whether he knows that there is such an association. Heretofore he has had no use for it. Nevertheless it is with him and it will hold the next meeting in the beautiful city of Lexington, on June 24, 25 and 26, 1902. The first session will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 24th, but the non-progressive teacher will not be there, for he does not see what good it will do him. He knows it would hurt his feelings to be there, for things uncomplimentary to him will be said. Why should he wish to go where his feelings will be hurt?

The session of the Association will continue three days. All of this is lost on the non-progressive teacher. He is not going. He has no time. He expects to spend the summer selling lightning rods and during the week of the meeting he will probably be filling an engagement to empty dinner plates for the great nephew of his grandfather's brother. The citizens of Lexington never do anything by halves and the members of the association may feel sure of the most royal treatment. It is too bad that the non-progressive teacher cannot be there too. It would give him new ideas of the esteem in which live teachers are held by live people in this year 1902.

Mrs. C. A. Wells.

Our friend, Mrs. Wells, so long identified with our people, and who is so well and favorable known in this community has just returned from the Comanche, Apache and Kiowa Indian Reservation, Oklahoma Territory where she has been since leaving here early last February. It is quite gratifying to her numerous friends to know that she has been successful in her venture in that grand and beautiful section of country which has been settled up by the white people since the opening last August. Although she knew only one or two people in the whole Reservation when she first entered the country, she now can count her friends by legions, she having been fortunate in knowing a few friends of high standing who were prepared to introduce her into the best society in the metropolis of the Southwest, the city of Lawton. Her friends will be pleased also to know that she was successful in securing a claim of 160 acres of fine prairie land with a beautiful carpet of grass now some seven inches high without a bush upon its face to obstruct the view. She desires to speedily return to her future home and improve her farm, situated, as she thinks, in one of the grandest sections upon the face of the earth.

He knows that this paper aims to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, I feel as though born anew, and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable ointment is for sale by C. K. Wylie.

Don't Wait Until Fall TO BEGIN TO BUILD.

It takes a month or more to get the plan question settled, and the best houses can not be built in a hurry. A house built in the winter is seldom satisfactory, and a fall beginning means a winter ending. Furthermore, prices on all materials are generally higher in the fall. Then too, most people wait till then to build, and work brings a higher price when there is a great deal of it. Hence you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by building in the Spring and Summer.

A Beautiful Display!

Geo. W. Young's Show-Window.

An artistic fac-simile in a standard soap of the United States Building at the St. Louis World's Fair, 1903, in one of Young's show-windows on Main street, is presented for the first time to-day, one of the most novel and attractive special displays ever seen in America. The display is a miniature fac-simile of the United States Building at the St. Louis World's Fair, the material used in its construction being a high-class medicated toilet article, handled here exclusively by Geo. W. Young. The view of this building given by this admirable and artistic soap display is a front one showing the mammoth Arch of Triumph with its ornamental columns, and above this a representation of the Goddess of Liberty on the Chariot of Progress. The vast halls flanked with smaller halls running through the center of the building and reaching to the dome, which is crowned with the American Eagle with outstretched pinions, is shown with wonderful exactness, as are all the various intricacies of architecture and adornment which distinguished this beautiful structure. The interior arrangement of reception and reading rooms, offices, bureau, etc., are all preserved in this miniature production, and in a manner which reflects credit on the designer. The structure occupies the whole space of the window, and stands upon a ground work of dyed sawdust, representing the greenest and most carefully kept lawn. In height it is fully ten feet, and surrounded as it is by artistically draped American flags, forms a most beautiful picture. It is the cynosure of all eyes on Main street to-day. Regular price 10c per cake but for a limited time 3 cakes go for ten cents.
